Senthil Kumar Murugesan is a visionary entrepreneur and CEO co-founder of JioVio Healthcare(Savemom Pvt Ltd), based in Madurai, Tamilnadu-India. With over 13 years of experience in the tech industry, he is a passionate innovator who is dedicated to leveraging technology to solve real-life problems. He is also a prolific technology inventor with over 10+ granted patents

Senthil began his career as an engineer at Samsung and Qualcomm, Fortune 500 companies, but he quickly realized that his true calling was entrepreneurship. He founded JioVio Healthcare(Savemom Private Limited), a health tech startup aimed at reducing maternal and infant mortality rates with the help of AI-enabled IoT kits and Telecommunications software. This innovation became a design thinking case study in Harvard Business School.

Senthil is a sought-after speaker and has offered guest lectures in more than 180 higher education institutes in India. He has been honoured as one of the top 5 Technology Explorers in India by Nasscom and has won several 'hackathons' at the national and international levels. He has represented India in 'Battlemesh Research Programme in Europe' and actively engages with the open-source ecosystem as one of its contributors.
